SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment in a hospital, or pending arrangements for his departure, or pending the settlement of any question as to his right to land, or when specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land for the purpose of sightseeing or shopping during the period the vessel remains in port, under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the minimum protection of the United States, and such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor conditioned upon the departure of such seaman with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, and upon the payment of the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and of his deportation if he remains unlawfully. Any such seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported to the country from which he came at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from foreign contiguous territory, or from any island adjacent thereto, shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before the departure of such vessel from such port, a complete list of all the members of the crew (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question whether any penalty has been incurred, and the Secretary of the Treasury may withhold clearance in case any such penalty shall not be promptly paid or secured to be paid, or in case of the refusal to deliver the lists aforesaid. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall depart after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be fined elsewhere than as provided in the preceding paragraph. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of quarantine, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation, removal, or transfer of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the name of each alien employed on such vessel (which information shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), and shall make oath before the immigrant inspector to the correctness of such list and to the truthful answer of such questions as may be put by him relative to such aliens. Such list shall be delivered in duplicate, and shall contain such information concerning each such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be prepared and delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or by some one of them, for each and every port in the United States at which such vessel shall touch, before the departure of such vessel from such port, and shall contain such information concerning each such alien employed on such vessel as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor, and such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with a collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or if, in the event such tax is imposed, while it remains unpaid, nor shall such vessel be permitted or authorized to depart from any port in the United States except temporarily by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof upon the payment of such tax, or may, in his discretion, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture provided for by this section, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 167.)

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not engage upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from the place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master or agent of such vessel a patient in a hospital for further treatment, shall be prima facie evidence to relieve the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel from the payment of the tax provided for in this section.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, or that the cost of maintenance of the alien seaman in the United States will be unreasonably great, or that the vessel will be unduly detained, he may, in his discretion, permit the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deposit with the Secretary of Labor such sum as he may deem sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman for a period not exceeding four months, pending the arrival of such vessel at a foreign port, and such deposit shall be available for the payment of such cost of maintenance. Upon the departure of such vessel from the United States the Secretary of Labor shall cause the deposit to be refunded, less the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman, including the expense of his transportation to the port of departure, unless such alien seaman shall have been permitted to land temporarily in the United States, in which case the deposit shall be applied to the payment of the cost of maintenance and transportation of such alien seaman. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the United States, or any person who shall bring into the United States from any place outside of the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board until such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent of time. 1940.

(b) Proof shall be filed as above seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport such seaman by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 28 Stat. 210; 8 U. S. C. 193 (a), 193 (c).)

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or internment in case of a national of a country with which the United States is at war, or pending the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada or Mexico) which transports to all cases aliens including a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), arriving aliens inspected such seamen on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has granted such seamen permission to land. Such permission to or to deport such seamen if required by such rules and regulations of the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserters arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, to land, he may be temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to detain or deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that adequate deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived cannot be arranged before the departure of such vessel from the port, or that the cost thereof will be unreasonably great, he may authorize the master to pay to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the cost of such deportation, or such portion thereof as the Attorney General may deem just and proper, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which accrued subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(f) Any alien seaman who may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be deemed clearance thus such expense has been paid to its payment Reimbursed to the administration of the Attorney General. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which the vessel first arrives, or to a duly authorized assistant, a complete list of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying the ports at which they severally intend to land: Provided, That the master of any vessel may, in lieu of such list, deliver to such officer a true copy of the ship's articles, showing the information required to be stated in such list, and a certificate that such articles contain the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying the ports at which they severally intend to land: Provided further, That the master of any vessel may, in lieu of delivering such list or articles, deliver to such officer a certificate that there are no aliens employed on such vessel: Provided further, That the master of any vessel shall, in respect of each alien employed on such vessel who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, report to such officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been employed on such vessel, and shall furnish such information as may be required by such officer with respect to such alien: Provided further, That the master of any vessel shall, in respect of each alien employed on such vessel who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, deliver to such officer, before such vessel departs from the port at which she shall arrive, a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension: And provided further, That the master of any vessel who fails to comply with the requirements of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such master fails to comply, and no such vessel shall have clearance granted to it by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located from the time of the giving of such information until the penalty has been paid or the master has been discharged by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival: And provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of such sum as may be required by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined to be due: And provided further, That the master of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival the list of persons on board such vessel required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him touching the right of any person on board such vessel to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to detain on board such vessel any person when directed so to do by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each person concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed under the provisions of this section, as he may deem proper: Provided, That no fine in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs shall be remitted or refunded except upon the payment into the Treasury of the United States of a sum equal to the fine so remitted or refunded.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens who arrive in the United States at any seaport, whether destined thereto or not, and to all aliens who depart therefrom after the effective date of this section, as amended, whether they depart as seamen or otherwise.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived for deportation to the adjacent foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island in the event he shall be found in the United States, except seamen employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or two days to obtain such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so. Shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed under the provisions of this section, as he may deem proper: Provided, That no fine in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs shall be remitted or refunded except upon the payment into the Treasury of the United States of a sum equal to the fine so remitted or refunded.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens who arrive in the United States at any seaport, whether destined thereto or not, and to all aliens who depart therefrom after the effective date of this section, as amended, whether they depart as seamen or otherwise.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived for deportation to the adjacent foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island in the event he shall be found in the United States, except seamen employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or two days to obtain such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so. Shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed under the provisions of this section, as he may deem proper: Provided, That no fine in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs shall be remitted or refunded except upon the payment into the Treasury of the United States of a sum equal to the fine so remitted or refunded.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that adequate deportation facilities cannot be obtained at reasonable cost, or for any other reason, he may cause any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived to be detained on board or at a station designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival pending the departure of the vessel from port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses as may be incurred by the United States in connection therewith shall be paid or their payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector promptly upon the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 1-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an arriving seaman is a "motorman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to receive medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 144.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall not permit any alien seaman employed on such vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to land in the United States from such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has caused such seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at such other place as the immigration officer may designate, pending such inspection or to be sent to a hospital for treatment or observation. Any alien seaman who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to exclude him from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such seaman is lawfully entitled to enter some other country, in which case he may be deported to such country if such country is willing to receive him. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse to detain any alien seaman on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien seaman on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge at any subsequent port at which such vessel may call before departing from a port in the United States, or who shall refuse to take such alien seaman on board his vessel when ordered so to do by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of detaining such alien seaman on board his vessel, or who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of any fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1930.

(d) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from this country otherwise than on board a vessel of the nation to which such vessel belongs, or to the country of which he was a resident, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart as required.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be refunded clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3E. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, and the position they respectively hold in the vessel's company, whether they were there lawfully or unlawfully admitted to entered, and whether they are destined to the United States or to some foreign country, which lists shall be delivered before the vessel is granted entry, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall furnish to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival such additional information relative to the right of any alien employed thereon to enter the United States as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: and it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a further list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon who were not employed thereon at the time of the sailing of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, and the reasons for the employment of each of such aliens, so far as known to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel: Provided, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel may, in lieu of delivering the lists of aliens required by this section, furnish to the immigration officer in charge of the port a sufficient number of true copies thereof within such time before the departure of the vessel from such port as the Commissioner General of Immigration may by regulations prescribe: and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to furnish information relative to the movements of any alien employed thereon who may desert or leave such vessel or the service thereof at any port in the United States, and for each and every failure to furnish lists or information required by this section, or for each and every false statement or omission of any fact required to be stated in such lists or in such information, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, or in the case of failure to furnish information relative to the movements of any alien employed thereon who deserts or leaves the service of such vessel, or for any false statement or omission in such lists or information, the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such false statement or omission is made, which sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by the United States or any person suing for the same and prosecuting the action to effect: Provided, That no penalty shall be made or incurred under the provisions of this section in respect of any alien who was in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa at the time of his embarkation at the port from which the vessel sails, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have actual knowledge that such alien is unlawfully in the United States or has remained therein for a longer time than permitted under the immigration laws or regulations in force at the time of his embarkation at such port. (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the purpose of obtaining burial, or as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 142.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who has been refused a visa by the consular officer at the port of departure, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in paragraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), and (6) of section 3 of this Act, or who is excludable under section 5 of this Act, or who is excludable under section 19 of this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such false statement or omission occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability in the case of a vessel which has given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien concerning whom such false statement or omission occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 5, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or cause to be delivered such seaman to a consular officer or to the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–166, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

Such list or manifest shall contain such further information as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe, and such other information as the aliens concerned may be required to furnish. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form and manner as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe, and the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section. Such rules and regulations shall provide for the examination of aliens in foreign contiguous territory, and for the establishment of such immigration stations in foreign contiguous territory, and the detention in such immigration stations of such aliens for such length of time as may be necessary for their examination, as may be necessary for the proper execution of the provisions of this section. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or permits to land on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who lands or permits to be landed on board any such seaman for the purpose of medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, or who lands or permits to be landed on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the outbound manifest of such vessel unless such alien seaman has been lawfully admitted to the United States or has been found by the Attorney General or a special inquiry officer to have remained in the United States with his consent or through no fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the vessel on which he arrived sails from the United States, whichever occurs first, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance while detained and his passage to his last foreign port of call, or upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters independent to June 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the outbound manifest of such vessel unless such alien seaman has been lawfully admitted to the United States or has been found by the Attorney General or a special inquiry officer to have remained in the United States with his consent or through no fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the vessel on which he arrived sails from the United States, whichever occurs first, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance while detained and his passage to his last foreign port of call, or upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters independent to June 2, 1940.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what their wages they were respectively paid or promised, and the amount paid on account thereof, and what amount has been deducted therefrom, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and unless accurate lists containing so much of such information as may be required in the form of entries in force at the time of the arrival of such vessel, and verified by the oath of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, to the best of his knowledge and belief, are delivered as aforesaid, every person who shall fail to comply with any requirement of this section or any regulation made thereunder, or who shall knowingly make, cause, or permit to be made any false or incorrect statement or report in connection therewith, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such vessel shall be required to remain at the port of arrival for the inspection by the immigration officers there until the requirements of this section have been complied with, and shall not be granted clearance papers pending the performance of the duties required of the master or owner by this section, or while any such master or owner is under arrest or indictment for any violation of this section. Clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the completion of the inspection of the aliens thereon by the immigration officers in charge at the port, upon the execution by the master or owner of a bond with sufficient surety in such sum, not exceeding $500 for each alien on board, as may be required by the Secretary of the Treasury, conditioned that all the aliens on board at the time of inspection shall be duly inspected by the immigration officers at the port of arrival and a certificate to that effect issued by them before the departure of the vessel from the port, or that any such alien who may not be so inspected shall be subsequently inspected by the immigration officers at the first port in the United States at which the vessel may arrive after departure from the port of arrival, or at the first port in a foreign contiguous territory at which the vessel may touch after departure from the port of arrival, and that a certificate to that effect has been issued by the immigration officers at such foreign port: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel may be relieved from the payment of the fine imposed by this section for the failure of any alien employed as a member of the crew of such vessel to present himself for examination before the departure of such vessel from a port in the United States if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was not employed on board such vessel with his knowledge or consent, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied with such rules and regulations governing the discharge of alien seamen as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel may be relieved from the payment of the fine imposed by this section for the failure of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel to present himself for examination before the departure of such vessel from the United States if such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman (1) was a member of the crew of a vessel which arrived at a port in the United States prior to November 1, 1924, and was employed on board such vessel during her next departure from the United States, (2) has been lawfully admitted to the United States, and (3) is in possession of a certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor showing that such alien seaman has complied with the provisions of this section relative to his examination before departure from the United States. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart on board such vessel such alien seaman as may be required to remain in the port of arrival for special inquiry under the provisions of section 16 of this Act, or who fails to detain on board any such alien seaman (which inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor) to be examined by the medical examiner, or who fails to detain such alien seaman on board until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified that such alien seaman has been granted a certificate of admission or has been otherwise lawfully permitted to land in the United States, except upon the certificate of a medical examiner that such alien seaman is suffering from a contagious disease which would endanger the public health if he were landed prior to the termination of quarantine, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question whether a fine is incurred hereunder in respect of any alien seaman, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit fines incurred hereunder in respect of any alien seaman if it be established to his satisfaction that the seaman was prevented from leaving the United States by illness or other cause beyond his control, or that he was employed on board such vessel during her next departure from the United States and has left the vessel with the consent of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof, and has shipped on another vessel, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied with the provisions of this section relative to the examination of seamen before departure. This section, as amended, shall apply to all pending claims independent of June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or depart after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 214; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 36. That any alien who shall arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place if he shall be found to be within any of the classes of persons not admitted under this Act, or who shall have come in violation of any of the provisions thereof, shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came by the steamship or other vessel in which he arrived, the cost of his maintenance while in custody and of his return to be borne by the owner or owners of the vessel bringing him: Provided, That if the master of a vessel shall have complied with the requirements of the immigration laws relative to the inspection of aliens prior to their embarkation, and shall have had no reasonable ground to believe that any alien on board his vessel was unlawfully in the United States or not entitled to enter the United States, he shall not be required to return any such alien to a foreign port or place, or pay the cost of his maintenance while in custody, or pay any tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in respect of such alien. The master of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States from foreign ports shall detain such aliens on board his vessel at the port of arrival, subject to the orders of the immigration officers in charge at that port, for such time not exceeding five days as may be necessary for the physical and mental examination of such aliens by the officers of the United States Public Health Service, and for the removal of such aliens as are certified by such officers to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and shall cause such aliens to be detained on board or at such place or places as may be designated for the purpose by such immigration officers, pending the certification of such aliens by said officers of the United States Public Health Service. The cost of such detention and removal shall be borne by the owner or owners of the vessel bringing such aliens to the United States. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by the immigration officers in charge of the port, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered to do so by such officers, or who shall refuse or neglect to take on board his vessel any alien who has been ordered to be returned on board thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper officers of the United States any alien on board his vessel at the time of his arrival at the port of destination, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding officers appointed subsequent to June 2, 1920.

(b) Every alien who shall arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place, and who shall not be admitted into the United States under the provisions of this Act, or who shall come in violation of any of the provisions thereof, shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came by the steamship or other vessel in which he arrived, the cost of his maintenance while in custody and of his return to be borne by the owner or owners of the vessel bringing him: Provided, That if the master of a vessel shall have complied with the requirements of the immigration laws relative to the inspection of aliens prior to their embarkation, and shall have had no reasonable ground to believe that any alien on board his vessel was unlawfully in the United States or not entitled to enter the United States, he shall not be required to return any such alien to a foreign port or place, or pay the cost of his maintenance while in custody, or pay any tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in respect of such alien. The master of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States from foreign ports shall detain such aliens on board his vessel at the port of arrival, subject to the orders of the immigration officers in charge at that port, for such time not exceeding five days as may be necessary for the physical and mental examination of such aliens by the officers of the United States Public Health Service, and for the removal of such aliens as are certified by such officers to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and shall cause such aliens to be detained on board or at such place or places as may be designated for the purpose by such immigration officers, pending the certification of such aliens by said officers of the United States Public Health Service. The cost of such detention and removal shall be borne by the owner or owners of the vessel bringing such aliens to the United States. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by the immigration officers in charge of the port, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered to do so by such officers, or who shall refuse or neglect to take on board his vessel any alien who has been ordered to be returned on board thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper officers of the United States any alien on board his vessel at the time of his arrival at the port of destination, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a time report is not made as above provided: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the act of the master in desertion or leaving behind such seaman, or for other cause beyond his control, or for the purpose of and to be returned on board when the vessel is ready to depart from the United States, or to be sent in transit to any country other than that to which the vessel upon which he arrived is destined, or to be returned to the country from which he came, at the discretion of the Attorney General, and under such conditions as he may prescribe: Provided, That any alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States and who has remained therein for a period of one year shall, if he be found within the United States at any time thereafter, be subject to the provisions of section 19 hereof in the same manner as if he had entered the United States at the port at which he last arrived prior to the time he was found within the United States: Provided further, That any alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States and who has remained therein for a period of less than one year shall, if he be found within the United States at any time after the expiration of such period of one year, be subject to the provisions of section 19 hereof in the same manner as if he had entered the United States at the port at which he last arrived prior to the time he was found within the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that it was not practicable for him to depart from the United States within such period of one year without substantial hardship. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 186.)

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman found on board such vessel (when inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), at the time of arrival and inspection of such vessel at a port of the United States, unless such alien seaman has been inspected and examined by the medical examiners at the time of arrival at the port of the United States, and certified by them to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or to be otherwise certified by them to be entitled to remain temporarily in the United States under the provisions of section 16 hereof, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a landing certificate by the Attorney General, or by such person or persons as may be designated by him for the purpose, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a conditional landing certificate by the Attorney General or his authorized representative, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a temporary landing certificate by the Attorney General or his authorized representative, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a permit to land temporarily under bond as provided in section 23 hereof, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a transit certificate by the Attorney General or his authorized representative, or unless such alien seaman has been granted a visa as a nonimmigrant seaman by a consular officer. The payment of such penalty may be enforced by withholding clearance of the vessel upon which such alien seaman arrived, or by suit, action, or proceeding brought by the Attorney General in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located, and jurisdiction of such suit, action, or proceeding is hereby conferred upon such courts. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate any penalty provided for in this section, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he shall deem reasonable and proper. The certificate of the medical examiners shall be conclusive upon the question of whether or not such alien seaman was suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease at the time of the examination. Pending the payment of such penalty, or the execution of a bond for the payment thereof, or pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation thereof by the Attorney General, no clearance shall be granted such vessel, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding officers appointed subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be refunded clearance shall such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel having arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 186.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall not permit any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to whom such alien seaman has been granted conditional landing by such immigration officer or the Attorney General as to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. Such application must be filed within two years after the date of the payment of the penalty sought to be remitted. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent of June 2, 1924.

(d) Every alien seaman who deserts while in the United States or who remains therein after the discharge of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, except that no alien seaman who is a member of the crew of any vessel which has been granted a conditional landing shall be deemed to have violated this section by remaining in the United States beyond the period granted him for such landing.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to pay the maximum fine prescribed in the first sentence of this section. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who sign in the port of arrival; to make duplicate lists of such aliens who may be discharged in the port of arrival, and deliver the same to the immigration officer in charge of the port; and to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has deserted the vessel, and to furnish such information as he may possess as to the whereabouts of such deserter. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such violation, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The words "vessel" and "master" as used in this section shall be construed to include all persons coming in charge of any vessel or vessels arriving in the United States.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on any vessel in violation of the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to obey the lawful requirements or regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to perform any service in connection with the vessel on which he arrived which he may be required to perform by the master, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had reasonable cause for such failure or refusal, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such alien seaman may be arrested without warrant by any officer charged with the enforcement of the immigration laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, or municipality, and taken before a United States commissioner, judge, or court for examination, hearing, and commitment for trial before the district court of the United States in and for the district in which the arrest is made. Pending such examination, hearing, and commitment for trial, such alien seaman shall be detained in such place of detention as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, whether such place be in the district in which the arrest is made or not. Such seaman shall be detained in the custody of the person making the arrest or of any officer of the United States Immigration Service or of the master of the vessel on which such seaman arrived, or of the master of any vessel on which such seaman is ordered to be returned, or of the agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel, or of any person designated by any of them, or in any jail or other place of detention, whether maintained by the United States or otherwise, but shall not be confined in the penitentiary except upon conviction of a crime punishable by imprisonment for more than one year, other than the offense of being found unlawfully in the United States. Such seaman shall be subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for his safekeeping and for the purpose of his detention, removal, hospital treatment, parole, or supervision, pending the decision as to his admission to the United States, or pending his removal from the United States, and shall be treated with humanity and kindness and provided with proper food, drink, and accommodations while under detention. Any such alien seaman who has been ordered removed from the United States shall be deported to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided at the time of shipping, if practicable, on the vessel on which he arrived or on any vessel or conveyance which may be available for such purpose, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation to some other country is more practicable or desirable. Any such alien seaman who is ordered removed from the United States and who is not deported within two years after the entry of such order of removal, shall be deported at any time thereafter at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the vessel upon which he arrived or any other vessel. Any such alien seaman who shall have been ordered removed from the United States who shall enter the United States or attempt to enter the United States within five years from the date of such removal shall be deported upon the vessel upon which he arrived or any other vessel, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien seaman did not depart voluntarily from the United States after the order of removal was made against him, or that he was otherwise prevented from departing from the United States within such period of time, or that he has been granted permission to reship on a vessel bound for a foreign port and to enter the United States as an immigrant, or that he has been granted permission to enter the United States as an immigrant, or that he has been granted permission to enter the United States as a nonimmigrant under the immigration laws of the United States. Any such alien seaman who shall enter the United States in violation of this section shall be deported upon the vessel upon which he arrived or any other vessel, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien seaman did not depart voluntarily from the United States after the order of removal was made against him, or that he was otherwise prevented from departing from the United States within such period of time, or that he has been granted permission to reship on a vessel bound for a foreign port and

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or because he is required as a witness in connection with the prosecution of persons charged with the commission of a crime, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have granted such seaman a conditional permit to land temporarily and shall have given notice thereof to the master or agent of the vessel on which such seaman arrived in the United States or to the consignee of the vessel. Such conditional permit shall be granted under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, and shall not be granted in the case of any seaman who is determined to be suffering from any communicable disease of a type which would endanger the public health, or who is determined to be a narcotic drug addict, or who has been convicted of a felony or other serious crime, unless the Attorney General finds that to admit any such seaman into the United States would not be contrary to the public interest. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention in the United States of any seaman who has been granted a conditional permit to land temporarily and who subsequently becomes a member of the crew of a vessel departing from the United States. Any seaman who is granted a conditional permit to land temporarily as provided in this section and who fails to remain with his vessel or to depart therewith on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on such other vessel as may be authorized by the Attorney General, shall be considered to have remained in the United States for permanent residence.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or because he is required as a witness in connection with the prosecution of persons charged with the commission of a crime, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such seaman (except members of the crew in possession of valid crewmen's landing permits) a conditional permit to land temporarily. Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers until the determination of the liability, if any, to the payment thereof has been finally made, or a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe.

(b) Every fine or alien seaman who did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States for examination by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who appears upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States but who cannot be found on board such vessel upon inspection or to whom such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers until the determination of the liability, if any, to the payment thereof has been finally made, or a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficiaries already authorized to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every fine or alien seaman who did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver on board such vessel upon its departure such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived (unless such vessel is destroyed by accident while in port) for the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall be deemed to have departed from the United States with such alien seaman on board. Such fine may be remitted or canceled, and any bond given to secure the payment thereof discharged, in whole or in part, if the Attorney General shall be satisfied that such vessel was not accessible to the master at the time of departure, or that the master was prevented by illness or other cause from delivering such alien seaman on board, or that such alien seaman has been taken on board another vessel and has left the United States thereon, or that such alien seaman has been delivered to a duly authorized officer of the United States, or that such alien seaman has been granted permission to land temporarily or permanently in the United States

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone shall furnish a manifest (which manifest in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and such manifest shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival before any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if and while the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel fails to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the additional facts respectively called for by such lists, and the foregoing provisions of this section in relation thereto have been complied with, such vessel shall be prohibited to depart from the port, and the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien not listed. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any such vessel, and may withhold clearance from any vessel which has previously arrived at a port in the United States and departed therefrom without the payment of any penalty imposed by this section upon the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty imposed by this section upon the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, or may cancel any bond given for the payment thereof, if it shall appear to his satisfaction that such penalty was incurred without fault on the part of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, and that reasonable diligence has been exercised by him to prevent the violation of the provisions of this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $100 for each alien not listed. The provisions of this section shall apply to all Canadian vessels engaged in the passenger business between ports of the United States and Canada, notwithstanding the provisions of section 4 of the Act of June 21, 1930.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien upon the vessel's departure, unless explained to the satisfaction of the Attorney General or a person authorized by him to pass upon the case.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be permitted to depart temporarily from the United States without the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1931 (46 Stat. 1171, 8 U. S. C. Supp. VII, 156), and without the deportation proceedings being considered final for the purposes of review, but upon the subsequent departure of such alien from the United States the tax shall be paid and the proceedings shall be considered final for the purposes of review. Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the pendency of deportation proceedings against him shall be considered to have departed from the United States in pursuance of an outstanding warrant of deportation.

When an alleged seaman is a "workaway", a notation to that effect should be inserted in column 10 on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alleged American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

If it appears to the satisfaction of the Attorney General, from an examination made by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and is so certified by such officer, that any such alien was so afflicted at the time he was shipped or engaged and taken on board such vessel or aircraft and that the existence of such affliction might have been detected by means of a competent medical examination at such time, the owner, commanding officer, agent, consignee, or master thereof shall pay for each alien so afflicted to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $20. No vessel or aircraft shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sums, or while such sums remain unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of an amount sufficient to cover such sums or of a bond approved by the collector of customs with sufficient surety to secure same or of a bond approved by the Attorney General, conditioned to pay the owner or owners of the vessel or aircraft the amount so deposited if such owner or owners shall be finally determined not to be liable therefor. (a) It shall be unlawful for any vessel or aircraft carrying passengers between a port of the United States and a port outside thereof to have employed on board such alien crewman if, prior to the departure of such vessel or aircraft from the last port outside the United States at which such vessel or aircraft called, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel or aircraft received notice that such alien crewman has been certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities described in section 253 of this act, unless such alien crewman has been given a clean bill of health by such medical officer and has been certified by him to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel or aircraft as a result of a physical examination and such certification is noted on the crew's certificate of such vessel or aircraft.

(b) Except as may be otherwise prescribed by regulations issued by the Attorney General, proof that an alien crewman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was not reported by the master or commanding officer of such vessel or aircraft as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such alien crewman.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of an alien crewman under this section on the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived is impracticable or impossible, or would cause undue hardship to such alien crewman, he may cause the alien crewman to be deported from the port of arrival or any other port on another vessel or aircraft of the same transportation line, unless the Attorney General finds this to be impracticable. All expenses incurred in transporting an alien crewman from one place in the United States to another under such conditions and regulations as the Attorney General shall impose, shall be paid by the owner or owners of the vessel or aircraft on which the alien arrived in the United States. SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which the vessel first touches the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively signed on as members of the crew, and specifying those of the crew who have been paid off, left sick in hospital, or discharged in the port of arrival; or their continuance on board of such vessel is not required as a condition precedent to the granting of a clearance by the collector of customs. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 206.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof other than Canada or Mexico shall be responsible for the proper maintenance in transit through the United States, and for the departure from the United States, of any alien seaman (other than a member of the crew) employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board such vessel when such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the district until such proof of such deportation or such bond or payment has been furnished. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such demand or not issue such bond or payment required by this section, as he may deem proper. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers notwithstanding the default in the deportation of any alien seaman upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to file a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such demand or not issue such bond or payment required by this section, as he may deem proper. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 207.)

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall depart from the United States without the consent of the Attorney General in the discharge of his duties in connection with such vessel, shall be deemed a person who has entered the United States unlawfully and shall be subject to the penalties provided by section 20 (a) of this Act. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 207.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 8 U. S. C. 207 (a), 207 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where they were respectively shipped to engage, and the capacities in which they respectively intend to land in the United States, and such other information regarding them as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, touching the right of aliens to land in the United States, which lists shall be prepared and delivered at such time before the departure of such vessel from the last port at which she touches before sailing for the United States as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States no master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof shall permit any person to leave such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or has delivered to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel a certificate stating that such seamen have been duly inspected and landed, or that in the opinion of such officer no inspection is necessary: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, authorize the inspection of such seamen to be made at some other time or place than the time and place of the arrival of such vessel, and may also, in his discretion, authorize the inspection of such seamen to be made by civil officers of the United States at such foreign ports as he may designate, and may detail such officers for that purpose, and may defray the expenses incident thereto upon the certificate of the consular officer in charge. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof who shall fail or neglect to comply with any of the provisions of this section or any regulations made thereunder shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such vessel, before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or has delivered to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel a certificate stating that such seamen have been duly inspected and landed, or that in the opinion of such officer no inspection is necessary, a permit signed by such immigration officer or the immigration officer at the last port in the United States at which such vessel touched before sailing for the United States, or at the first port in the United States at which such vessel arrives if sailing from a port in contiguous territory, to land in the United States, or who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port has issued a certificate in respect of such alien seaman or has delivered a permit to land him, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would be unreasonable or would cause undue hardship to such seaman if he were compelled to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel, such vessel may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, with respect to any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall, at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, deliver to the immigrant inspector at such port a complete list of all such alien seamen employed on board, and shall make oath to the correctness of such list before the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port. Such list shall contain the name of each such alien seaman, his nationality, last known residence, intended place of landing in the United States, whether he has been in the United States previously, and if so, when and where, whether he intends to return to the country from which he came, his calling or occupation, whether he is in possession of money, and if so, how much, whether he has been deported or has ever been refused admission to the United States or has ever been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, his age, sex, race, color, whether married or single, his height, weight, complexion, color of hair, color of eyes, visible distinguishing marks, and whether he has any tattoo marks, and if so, where located. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port a list containing the name, nationality, last known residence, and intended place of landing in the United States of each alien seaman who has deserted such vessel while in port, and shall report in writing to such immigrant inspector all cases in which any such alien seaman illegally landed from such vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and shall report to such immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port the name of any such alien seaman who may have been employed on such vessel and who shall have deserted, refused, or neglected to proceed on board thereof when she shall leave such port, and deliver to such immigrant inspector a list containing the name, nationality, last known residence, and intended place of landing in the United States of each alien seaman so deserting, and the cause of such desertion, refusal, or neglect, so far as known to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel; and in case of the failure of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to do so, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all borderline aliens employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from any place outside thereof, or from any place outside the United States, as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $50 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may deem proper. Such application may be presented to any person who may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such person shall not shall such use be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or all payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes at ports thereof (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who may be on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively naturalized or admitted, and whether they have been in the port of arrival; to what lines contributing do those of them who may be passengers belong, and whether they have been in the United States or elsewhere, and if so, how long, and where they were when last engaged, and such descriptive notes as to the said immigration officer, or his duly authorized agent, may be required, and also the names of those, if any, who may have been left behind, and the reasons therefor, and shall furnish such additional information as may be required by the said officer touching the right of any alien to enter the United States; and no owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel shall refuse to furnish such information or to answer truthfully any such question propounded to him by any such officer. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section in the case of any vessel which shall have been regularly and frequently in ports of the United States or which shall only touch at ports of the United States intermediately in the course of voyages between foreign ports, and which can not, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, be required to comply herewith without unreasonably delaying the vessel.

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be refused the master of any vessel on account of the failure to deliver lists of alien employees required by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171) when such lists have been delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, or to the master of the vessel, not later than the time of departure, that also the names of those, if any, who may have been left behind by reason of illness, accident, or other cause, and the reasons therefor, have been reported to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, and that the vessel has been duly cleared by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw this penalty as to any specified vessel or vessels which shall only touch at ports of the United States intermediately in the course of voyages between foreign ports, and which can not, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, be required to comply herewith without unreasonably delaying the vessel. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from the place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens (whether inspected such seamen (whether inspected at the place where such lists include a person physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving at such port or not) employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival or his duly authorized representative shall have granted a permit to land. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered at such time and place as the Attorney General may by regulations prescribe. The Attorney General may require the master of any vessel to deposit with the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the return of any alien employed on board such vessel who may become a public charge within one year after such arrival, and such sum may be used to pay such cost. Failure to deposit such sum when required shall be ground for refusing clearance to such vessel. Any such sum deposited, and not used for such purpose, shall be returned to the master of such vessel upon the departure of such alien.

(b) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or boarding officer who knowingly or willfully refuses to deliver lists required by this section, or who knowingly or willfully delivers incomplete lists, or who refuses to any immigrant inspector access to the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses to pay the cost of the return of any alien as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, or who refuses to deposit with the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the return of any alien who may become a public charge within one year after such arrival, as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw this penalty as to any specified vessel or vessels which shall only touch at ports of the United States intermediately in the course of voyages between foreign ports, and which can not, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, be required to comply herewith without unreasonably delaying the vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien named on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States to defray the cost of his maintenance and transportation to the port at which he was originally shipped or engaged, the appropriation made by the Act making appropriations for the Department of Labor for the fiscal year during which such deportation occurs, and such sum shall be available for the purpose of such deportation. The Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe the manner in which moneys shall be deposited and accounted for.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to the alien seaman, in addition to any other legal evidence which may be available, that he was not lawfully admitted for permanent residence.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien named on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to the alien seaman, in addition to any other legal evidence which may be available, that he was not lawfully admitted for permanent residence, or that he remained in the United States for a longer time than permitted under the immigration laws, or any rule or regulation made thereunder, and that he has failed to maintain himself in accordance with the requirements of

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal of which alien is prevented by the immigration laws, or by reason of the refusal of such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master to pay the tax provided for by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended, or by reason of the refusal of such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master to comply with any regulation prescribed by the Attorney General with respect to the removal of such alien, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting seamen who may become subject to such fine on or after September 1, 1940.

(b) Fines and penalties collected under the provisions of this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall constitute a special fund to be available to the Attorney General for the maintenance and detention of such seamen, for their conveyance to any place outside thereof, or for such other purposes connected with the administration of the immigration laws as he may deem proper.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from which a deserting alien seaman was discharged or the consul general of the country to which such seaman belongs, or his representative, has given such guaranty or security as may be required by the Attorney General that such alien seaman will be deported, the vessel may be granted clearance notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section. Any vessel granted clearance under this subsection shall not be granted clearance or the equivalent thereof, or permitted to depart from any port or place in the United States, while such alien seaman remains in the United States after notice that he has been ordered deported, except upon the production of a certificate from the Attorney General showing that such alien seaman has been granted permission to depart voluntarily from the United States or has been deported pursuant to law, or that the Attorney General has cancelled the bond or other security given for the deportation of such alien seaman. (39 Stat. 885; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign dominions of the United States contiguous thereto, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment in case of emergency, or for the purpose of transferring in transit without the United States to the foreign country of which he is a subject or citizen, or in which he has a residence, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has granted to such seaman a landing certificate, or has otherwise given him permission to land, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such seaman has complied with all requirements of the immigration laws and regulations with respect to his entry. The Attorney General is authorized to require any alien seaman to deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival such sum of money, not to exceed $10 for each alien seaman, as in the opinion of the Attorney General may be necessary to insure the return of such alien seaman to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country to which he may be entitled to proceed at the time of his application for admission, or to defray the expenses which may be incurred in his maintenance and hospital treatment, if necessary, pending the completion of his physical examination and the determination of his admissibility to the United States. The Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, waive the requirement of the deposit of such money in the case of any alien seaman certified by such officer to be suffering from an illness which requires his treatment in a hospital, if the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived agrees to pay the expenses of such hospital treatment. Any such money deposited may be refunded, in whole or in part, to the person who deposited it, or his legal representative, or may be applied, in whole or in part, to the payment of the expenses of such hospital treatment, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. No money deposited by or on behalf of any alien seaman shall be refunded to such alien seaman if he has become a public charge or has been removed from the United States at any time within six months after the date of the deposit. (39 Stat. 885; 8 U. S. C. 137.)

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign dominions of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment in case of emergency, or for the purpose of transferring in transit without the United States to the foreign country of which he is a subject or citizen, or in which he has a residence, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has granted to such seaman a landing certificate, or has otherwise given him permission to land, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such seaman has complied with all requirements of the immigration laws and regulations with respect to his entry. The Attorney General is authorized to require any alien seaman to deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival such sum of money, not to exceed $10 for each alien seaman, as in the opinion of the Attorney General may be necessary to insure the return of such alien seaman to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country to which he may be entitled to proceed at the time of his application for admission, or to defray the expenses which may be incurred in his maintenance and hospital treatment, if necessary, pending the completion of his physical examination and the determination of his admissibility to the United States. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof to or for the benefit of such alien seaman if he has become a public charge or has been removed from the United States at any time within six months after the date of the deposit or a sum sufficient to cover such part, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof to an amount sufficient to cover such part, and in such form as the Attorney General may prescribe. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from a foreign port or place, or any vessel engaged in the transportation of merchandise or passengers between ports of the United States, or between the United States and its possessions, or between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, or between ports of the Panama Canal Zone, shall be permitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and a valid seaman's identification certificate, issued by the country of which he claims nationality or citizenship, and a valid nonimmigrant visa, if such be required by the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of State. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 206.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from this or any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and a valid seaman's identification certificate, issued by the country of which he claims nationality or citizenship, or unless such alien seaman (whether in possession of a valid passport or not) is in transit to a specific foreign country, and has been certified by the Commissioner General of Immigration to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrives as being admissible in transit through the United States to such specific foreign country, and has been given a identification card by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such certification may be refused and such identification card withheld by the Commissioner General of Immigration without the necessity of assigning reasons therefor when such action is deemed by him to be necessary in the interest of the United States. Such identification card shall be surrendered by such alien seaman upon his departure from the United States. Any such alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or who departs from the United States on a vessel not specified in his identification card, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien seaman to the United States who is required by this section to be specified in his identification card shall report the departure of such alien seaman to the Commissioner General of Immigration, and deliver to him such identification card, at the time of such alien seaman's departure from the United States, under penalty of $300 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the application of this subdivision to such vessel, or of a bond duly executed therefor, or while any penalty imposed by this subdivision remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the application of this subdivision to such vessel upon the deposit of such sum as may be required by the collector of customs. The Secretary of Labor may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof, or cancel any bond given hereunder, if he be satisfied that the vessel has departed from the United States without the payment of any penalty to which it may be subject hereunder, or that no such penalty will be incurred.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of the identification card issued to him by the Commissioner General of Immigration shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States unless (1) subsequently admitted to the United States as a nonquota immigrant under section 4 (c) of this Act, or (2) at the time of his application for admission he is found to be entitled to enter the United States as a nonimmigrant under section 3 of this Act, or (3) he was lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence before July 1, 1924, and has resided continuously in the United States since such admission.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that sufficient reasons exist for believing that any alien seaman who has been granted clearance has illegally landed in the United States, he may cause a warrant to be issued for the arrest of such alien seaman, which warrant may be served by any immigrant inspector, and such alien seaman may be taken into custody and detained at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, or of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, to await a hearing to be had as soon as practicable before a special inquiry officer, and if, upon such hearing, it shall be found that such alien seaman has illegally landed in the United States, he shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Pending the hearing before the special inquiry officer, such alien seaman may be released from detention upon the deposit of such sum of money as the Secretary of Labor may require, or upon the filing of a bond or undertaking sufficient in amount to ensure the appearance of such alien seaman at the hearing before the special inquiry officer, and sufficient in amount to ensure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States if he is ordered deported from the United States hereunder. Such bond or undertaking may be prosecuted in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose, and shall be discharged only upon the production of such alien seaman before the special inquiry officer at the hearing, upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon the payment of the penalty imposed by this section.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of the identification card issued to him by the Commissioner General of Immigration shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States unless (1) subsequently admitted to the United States as a nonquota immigrant under section 4 (c) of this Act, or (2) at the time of his application for admission he is found to be entitled to enter the United States as a nonimmigrant under section 3 of this Act, or (3) he was lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence before July 1, 1924, and has resided continuously in the United States since such admission.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that sufficient reasons exist for believing that any alien seaman who has been granted clearance has illegally landed in the United States, he may cause a warrant to be issued for the arrest of such alien seaman, which warrant may be served by any immigrant inspector, and such alien seaman may be taken into custody and detained at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, or of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, to await a hearing to be had as soon as practicable before a special inquiry officer, and if, upon such hearing, it shall be found that such alien seaman has illegally landed in the United States, he shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Pending the hearing before the special inquiry officer, such alien seaman may be released from detention upon the deposit of such sum of money as the Secretary of Labor may require, or upon the filing of a bond or undertaking sufficient in amount to ensure the appearance of such alien seaman at the hearing before the special inquiry officer, and sufficient in amount to ensure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States if he is ordered deported from the United States hereunder. Such bond or undertaking may be prosecuted in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose, and shall be discharged only upon the production of such alien seaman before the special inquiry officer at the hearing, upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon the payment of the penalty imposed by this section.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel from any place outside the United States arriving at the United States from any place in the Philippine Islands shall be subject to all the provisions of section 36 of this Act relating to the listing, examination, or inspection of aliens arriving at ports of the United States, except that such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall not be required to list or present for examination any alien who is a citizen or national of the United States. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, until the master, purser, or person in charge of such vessel has delivered to and filed in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the adjustment of such alien's accounts, or for the deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deserters since unperformed on June 2, 1940.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to attend to the medical treatment, or internment in such cases as authorized by the Attorney General) when practicable for the ultimate deportation, removal, to the country in which he was born or of which he is a citizen or subject, or in which he last resided, if such country shall be willing to receive him, or in such other country as may be willing to receive him. Such seaman shall pay the cost of his maintenance while hospitalized and of his transportation, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived shall have given bond, in such sum not exceeding $500 as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned upon the removal of such seaman within such period as may be specified by the Attorney General, and such bond shall be discharged when the seaman has departed from the United States or has been granted permission to land temporarily or permanently. Any seaman who has been granted temporary permission to land shall, at the expiration of such period, or when required by the Attorney General, be deported in the same manner as provided for in the case of other aliens illegally landed from the vessel. Expenses of detention and deportation of such aliens, collectible with any contractual liability of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel, shall be paid to the United States by such owner, agent, consignee, or master to reimburse the appropriation or fund against which charges were made or payments made for such detention and deportation. Such seaman shall be deported to the country in which he resides or elsewhere at the option of the Attorney General. Any seaman who has been granted temporary permission to land and who fails to depart from the United States when required by the Attorney General shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and may be arrested and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any such seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel upon which he arrives or upon which he is granted permission to land, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, unless specifically permitted by the Attorney General to do so, shall be deemed to have remained unlawfully in the United States and may be arrested and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to pay any fine or penalty imposed on account of the presence on board of any alien seaman in violation of this section, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance while any such fine or penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to pay a fine or penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel any bond after the determination by the Attorney General that such fine or penalty should not be imposed or has been paid. Such fines and penalties may be remitted or refunded in the discretion of the Attorney General in the case of any alien seaman who shall have been in the service of the United States at the time of his last departure from the United States or who shall have served on board a vessel of the United States during the war with Germany and prior to July 1, 1940.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of entry into the United States from any foreign country in which such seaman may have been permitted to land temporarily or permanently or may have resided.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the conditions of the vessel on which he arrived or in the manner provided for in subsection (a) of this section, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel as a member of the crew of such vessel or as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain a proper outside transfer, or shall be presumed to be in the employment of such vessel while in the United States, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he did not depart from the United States on such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be a charge against the appropriation for the enforcement of the Attorney General.

Every alien employed on board any vessel at the time it shall be the duty of the master to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a complete list of all the crew members, showing the positions they respectively hold in the alien's employ, whether such persons are citizens or subjects of countries friendly to the United States, and specifying those who were born in the United States and who have not lost their citizenship. Any master who shall refuse to report or to deliver to any such immigration officer, in writing, or who shall refuse an oath to any question touching the information required by law, or who shall willfully conceal, or attempt to conceal, any alien employee who were not employed therein at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the first port in the United States, or who shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer a truthful list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed therein at the time of the vessel's departure from any foreign port or place for the United States, and also the manner of their departure, and the reasons therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel any bond after the determination by the Attorney General that such fine or penalty should not be imposed or has been paid. Such fines and penalties may be remitted or refunded in the discretion of the Attorney General in the case of any alien seaman who shall have been in the service of the United States at the time of his last departure from the United States or who shall have served on board a vessel of the United States during the war with Germany and prior to July 1, 1940.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white manifest paper provided by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be required to be prepared in duplicate, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alien seaman is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving aliens of all classes.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel, whether the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of said alien members who are destined to the port of arrival; to make corrections in such list as may be necessary, and to add thereto the names of any alien members who may be shipped or engaged at any foreign port or place before the departure of such vessel for the United States, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel a complete list of all alien members who were not employed therein at the time of the arrival but who joined the vessel from a vessel lying in the harbor at such time; and to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, the illegal landing from the vessel, during its stay in any port of the United States, of any alien member thereof, specifying as to each the reason for such landing, so far as known, and such other information in relation to the subject as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration prescribed: And after the arrival of the vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the proper immigration officer a list containing the names of all alien members who were not employed therein at the time of the arrival but who joined the vessel from a vessel lying in the harbor at such time, and also the names of those if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and the cause for which discharged, and to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, the illegal landing from the vessel, during its stay in any port of the United States, of any alien member thereof, specifying as to each the reason for such landing so far as known: Provided, That the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel failing to report the illegal landing of any alien member, or to deliver a complete list of the alien members employed thereon at the time of the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, to a sum not to exceed $300 for each manifest in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving at the ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, whether specifically named herein or not, and shall be in addition to any other penalty or liability imposed by law. (39 Stat. 886–887; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

SEC. 150.15. Duty of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 191), have been paid, and the fines and duties of all inadmissible aliens employed on such vessel, whether such fines and duties have been imposed by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 191) or by section 16 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 141), have been paid, unless the master has deposited in the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover such fines and duties, or has given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving at the ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, whether specifically named herein or not, and shall be in addition to any other penalty or liability imposed by law. (39 Stat. 886–887; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

(b) Fines that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was removed by the immigration officer to the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to obtain a certificate of discharge, shall be prima facie evidence to a taxing officer that the fine is due and unpaid.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, has such vessel been lost, destroyed, or otherwise disposed of so as to be unavailable for the deportation of such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land temporarily from a vessel arriving in the United States from a foreign port, except upon the certification by a duly commissioned medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be the basis for his exclusion from the United States under the immigration laws, unless such alien seaman shall be specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor, after such investigation as he may deem necessary, to be not of the class likely to become a public charge, and to be in every way admissible except as to the documentary requirements of section 3 of the Act of May 19, 1921, as amended, and the Secretary of Labor is hereby authorized to make such certification in the case of any such alien seaman who is found by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be the basis for his exclusion from the United States under the immigration laws, if in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor the certification of such alien seaman is necessary in order to prevent the vessel on which he arrived from being detained unreasonably in port, and if such alien seaman is certified by the Secretary of Labor he may be permitted to land temporarily under bond in such sum and with such security and conditions as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, but not in excess of $500, and under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, for such period of time as the Secretary of Labor may authorize, not exceeding the period of time such vessel is in port, and such alien seaman may be required to report to the immigration officials periodically or to remain on board during the period his vessel remains in port. Any such alien seaman who fails to report for medical examination when required so to do, or who fails to return to the vessel on which he arrived when it is ready to depart from the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be refused a visa by any consular officer during the remainder of the period of validity of the visa issued to him. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign dominions of such alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 33. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign dominions, or any transportation company not engaged in the transportation of passengers wholly between ports in Canada or Mexico and ports in the United States, shall be required to deliver to each alien seaman employed on such vessel immediately before the departure of such vessel from the United States, a certificate stating the nationality of such alien seaman, the date of his arrival in the United States, the name of the vessel on which he arrived, and the date of his departure from the United States, and shall be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure from the United States a list containing the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when born where they were respectively naturalized, their nationality, their last permanent residence, whether they have been in the United States before, and if so how long, whether they have been connected with any criminal institutions or institutions for the care of the insane or feebleminded, whether they are coming in pursuance of a previously existing contract, by whom such contract was made, whether they have come wholly or partly at the expense of the government or of any private individual, association, or corporation, and what amount they have in money, what their occupation is, whether they are going to join relatives or friends, and if so, to whom, and their ultimate destination, whether they have ever been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are coming to perform labor, and if so what kind of labor, whether they have been deported or excluded and the cause thereof, whether they are married or single, the age, sex, and race of each alien, the height and complexion of each alien, the color of hair and eyes of each alien, and the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, and the name and complete address of the relative or friend in the United States to whom he is going, which lists shall be certified to by the master, commanding officer, purser, or surgeon of the vessel, and by the agent, owner, consignee, or master thereof to the best of their knowledge and belief. Such lists shall be prepared in the form or to the effect required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, commanding officer, purser, or surgeon of the vessel, or in his absence by the agent, owner, consignee, or master thereof, before any of the passengers shall be landed from the vessel, except in case of accident, and such other information shall be furnished at such time and place and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and any master, commanding officer, purser, or surgeon of any vessel, or the agent, owner, consignee, or master thereof, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, or to furnish the information required thereby, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom he shall refuse to furnish information, or concerning whom he shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section, or concerning whom he shall refuse to answer any question put to him by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (Act of February 5, 1917, sec. 36 (39 Stat. 889); U. S. C., title 8, sec. 132.)

(b) Front fines and an alien seaman who does not depart upon the outgoing vessel of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be refused a visa by any consular officer during the remainder of the period of validity of the visa issued to him. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of their arrival in the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to the master, purser, or surgeon of the vessel, or the agent, owner, consignee, or master thereof, he may cause such alien seaman to be returned to the United States on another vessel of the same line or a connecting line, and such alien seaman shall not be refused admission to the United States by reason of the provisions of section 3 of the Act of May 19, 1921, as amended, or section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, if otherwise admissible. I, Joseph [illegible], of the S.S. Alpine Mariner, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in case vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Joseph [illegible]

Sworn to before me this 14th day of May, 1952

John F. Coleman
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Each column is to be filled in as directed. Any failure to comply with the requirements of the law may cause a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. When an alleged "nonresident" alien seaman is discharged in the United States from the vessel, a report thereof must be made on Form I-184 (8 U. S. C. 180(a), 180(c)).

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, purser, or commanding officer thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port at which it arrives a complete list of all the persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or those in the steerage, who may have been originally destined or intend to land at that port or at any other port or place in the United States, stating the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, and the country of which they severally are citizens, and the country from which they severally have come, and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, and such other information as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, touching the right of aliens to enter the United States, which list shall be produced and exhibited to the said immigration officer, or to such person as he may designate for the purpose, upon the vessel coming to the dock at which it is to land, or if there be no dock, then immediately upon the vessel's coming within the limits of the port, and before any passengers shall be landed therefrom, and before the vessel shall depart from such port for any other port or place in the United States, and before any passengers shall be taken on board for any foreign port or place, and before the vessel shall depart from such port, upon the demand of any such immigration officer, to answer, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the master, purser, or commanding officer of such vessel, all such questions as may be put by any such immigration officer touching the persons on board such vessel, their births, last residence, and such other matters as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor touching the right of aliens to enter the United States, and shall deliver to such immigration officer at the time of answering such questions all such information in his possession concerning the same as may be required by such rules and regulations. Any master, purser, or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list, or who refuses to answer such questions, or who willfully furnishes false information in respect thereto, or who refuses to allow such immigration officer to come on board for the purpose of inspecting such list, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer a true list of the persons on board such vessel, or who refuses to allow such immigration officer to come on board for the purpose of ascertaining whether the provisions of this section have been complied with, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted upon the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 132), even though such lists contain notice of intention to file administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 or to file prescribed by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 136) unless the master proves to the satisfaction of the district director that the omission of any alien employee from the lists was not intentional, or unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has deposited with the district director a sum sufficient to cover the fine which may be imposed for the omission of such alien employee from the lists, or has given a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as may be required by the district director to assure the payment of such fine. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel (which inspection is to be made by the immigration officer at the time the vessel arrives at the port of first arrival in the United States, except that such inspection may be made at such other time and place as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may by regulations prescribe), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

(b) Every owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on board such vessel (which inspection is to be made by the immigration officer at the time the vessel arrives at the port of first arrival in the United States, except that such inspection may be made at such other time and place as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States), or who fails to detain such seaman on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port has been notified of intention to land such seaman, or who fails to deliver such seaman to the immigration officer for inspection, or who fails to detain such seaman on board such vessel after notice that the Attorney General has decided that such seaman shall be deported, or who fails to deliver such seaman to the master of the vessel on which he is to be deported, or who fails to pay the cost of maintaining such seaman while detained, or who fails to pay the cost of his deportation, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question whether a fine is to be imposed under this section or the amount thereof, and sufficient sum may be withheld from the fines imposed under this section to pay the cost of maintaining and deporting such seamen. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred under this section, or may cancel any bond given to the collector of customs or the customs officer in charge of the port to assure the payment thereof, or may discontinue any proceedings for the collection of any such fine, penalty, or forfeiture, or may mitigate the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportations arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that sufficient reason does not exist for the detention of any vessel as a precaution against illness among the crew, or that no part of the crew is likely to become a public charge, he may, in his discretion, authorize the release of such vessel from detention upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned upon the payment of such fine as may be imposed upon such vessel under the provisions of this section. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel on which a seaman is required by this section to be detained, and any vessel which departs without clearance shall be subject to the same fine as may be imposed upon the master for the employment of any alien seaman on board thereof.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any vessel on which he shall thereafter be employed on board the same vessel when it departs from the United States, or who departs from the United States on any vessel without having obtained a certificate from the immigration officer in charge of the port at which he arrives in

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless to accept employment as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof except from foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or transfer to such hospital as may be designated by the Attorney General, unless and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has caused such seaman to be detained on board or on such wharf or other place as may be designated by the Attorney General, for such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, and then only by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the master of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover the cost of such detention and maintenance, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, at a rate not exceeding $1.00 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every fine or alien seaman who does not depart upon the discharge manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any fine or alien seaman who is a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a mental disease which originated after he arrived in the United States, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain such seamen on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the port at which the vessel arrives, if practicable, and if not practicable, then at the first port of arrival thereafter at which the vessel shall call where such medical officer is stationed), or who fails to detain on board such vessel such seamen who have been certified by such immigrant inspector for hospital treatment, or who fails to detain such seamen on board or to prevent their landing in the United States if ordered by the Attorney General to do so, shall for each such offense be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any fine imposed upon the master or commanding officer thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such amount as may be required to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation orders heretofore or hereafter issued, irrespective of the date of the entry of the alien seaman with respect to whom such order is issued. (54 Stat. 673, June 2, 1940.)

(d) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the contiguous territory of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be sent therefrom by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport with such vessel, and such failure shall be presumed to have been willful unless the master or commanding officer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such alien seaman was prevented from departing with such vessel by illness or injury necessitating his hospitalization, or that such vessel left such alien seaman behind in the port or territory of a foreign country contiguous to the United States with the consent of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and that such master or commanding officer has complied with such regulations governing the removal of alien seamen as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. (8 U. S. C. 180.)

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will result in undue hardship because such alien seaman has become a member of the community, or that such deportation will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may permit such alien seaman to remain in the United States for such time and under such conditions as he may prescribe. (8 U. S. C. 180.)

(f) Any master or commanding officer who shall refuse to pay the expense of the vessel in the case of any alien seaman ordered deported on board such vessel, or who shall refuse to detain such alien seaman on board such vessel when directed so to do by the Attorney General, or who shall refuse to deliver the list or manifest required by section 20 (a) of this Act, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by the immigrant inspector touching the matters required by section 20 (a) of this Act to be stated in such list or manifest, or who shall make any false answer to any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon conviction thereof in a court of competent jurisdiction. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel while any fine imposed upon the master or commanding officer thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such amount as may be required to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be furnished or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the District Immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 160.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (which officer shall notify the master of such vessel of his decision in the premises) is satisfied that such alien seaman is not prohibited from landing under the provisions of this Act, or any other law relating to the immigration of aliens, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. One hundred dollars of such amount shall be refunded upon the deposit with the Attorney General of evidence satisfactory to him that such alien seaman has been duly discharged from the vessel in the country to which he belongs or in such other country as the Attorney General may approve. Such clearance may be refused prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum as the Attorney General may require, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof. The Attorney General may in his discretion remit any fine, or any part thereof, imposed by this section, as mitigated, shall apply to all penalties which may be incurred by the owners, charterers, agents, or consignees of any vessel in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be so construed as to relieve any such owners, charterers, agents, or consignees from any other penalty or liability imposed by law.

(b) Proof shall be taken as to each seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or shall be so construed as to relieve any such vessel or the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee thereof from any other penalty or liability imposed by law.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, or on which he may be required to depart, will cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the length of time he would be required to remain in the United States awaiting such vessel or such other vessel on which he may be required to depart, or by reason of the state of health of such seaman, or the lack of accommodations for him on such vessel, he may permit such seaman to depart on any other vessel which in his opinion will afford such seaman suitable accommodations, and such seaman shall not be required to pay any increased fare over that charged for the accommodations in which he arrived. Such seaman shall not be required to pay any fine imposed upon the master under this section, but the cost of his maintenance while detained and his passage money shall be collected from the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, or the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the United States from which he arrived, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States in which the port is located. Such seaman may be detained on board such vessel or in the custody of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival in such manner as the Attorney General may prescribe, or in a hospital, with the consent of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while such seaman remains on board. Such seaman may be discharged in the port of arrival to the custody of such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered ill cause in which such immigration officer is satisfied that the health of such seaman will be endangered by remaining on board during the period the vessel remains in port, and such seaman may be treated in any hospital designated by the Attorney General for the treatment of seamen, the cost of such treatment to be collected from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such seaman arrived. Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each and every such refusal or neglect, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance while any penalty incurred under this section remains unpaid. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 36. [That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port no alien shall land from any vessel at any port or place in the United States until after the physician or surgeon detailed to inspect the same, or in case there be no such officer at such port or place then until after some medical officer or civil surgeon of the United States shall have inspected such alien, and certificates have been issued by such officer stating that such alien has been duly inspected and examined and is not affected with any of the diseases or physical defects which will be sufficient by the provisions of this Act to exclude him from admission into the United States: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe such rules and regulations governing the inspection of aliens arriving at ports of the United States as he may deem necessary, which shall have the force of law, and may detail such officers for the performance of such service as he may deem proper: And provided further, That in case of the failure or refusal of any such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver such list when required, or in case of the failure to detain any alien when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or to whom proper facilities for detention are not furnished; Provided, That clearance shall not be refused any vessel by reason of the failure to deliver lists as required by this section as to any alien who has been duly taken on board at a foreign port and who has been certified by the examining surgeon at such port to the Secretary of Labor and to the master of the vessel prior to the departure of such vessel from such foreign port, and whose name appears on the list of aliens to be landed at the port of destination, but who for any reason does not land from such vessel at the port of departure: And provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien who is in possession of a valid immigration visa and who is destined to a port in the United States other than the port of arrival shall furnish to the immigrant alien a certificate of the form and contents prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, showing the name of the alien, the port of arrival, the vessel in which the alien is to be transported, and the final destination of the alien, so far as known to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel, and shall furnish to the immigrant alien such other certificates and information as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe to enable the alien to establish his identity and his compliance with the requirements of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section or with any lawful rules or regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for the execution thereof, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board his vessel when required so to do by any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the proper immigrant inspector at the time of arrival of his vessel at a port of the United States a complete and correct list of all aliens on board his vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to report and deliver to the proper immigrant inspector before the departure of his vessel from such port a complete and correct list of all aliens who have been on board his vessel and who have been landed at such port, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the tax imposed by this Act in connection therewith, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of such tax, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the fine imposed upon him by this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than the amount of the head tax in connection with the case. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to obtain or deport alien tradesmen by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship such alien may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to his payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General, but such alien shall not be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall remain subject to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall remain subject to the penalty provided in section 36 of this Act.

No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from the place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury incurred while in the service of the vessel, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment by the medical examiners, to obtain clothing or effects left on board the vessel, or to be treated in a hospital, but shall be detained on board or at such immigration station as the Attorney General may designate, and deported in the same manner as provided in the case of other aliens ordered deported. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving therein from any place outside thereof, or who shall land from any vessel at any port in the United States without having been inspected by the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival (which inspection shall include a physical examination by the medical examiners), or who shall land from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof at any port other than the port of arrival, without having been inspected by the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166).

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge or command of any such vessel, including (while inspection is in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel, shall not permit any alien seaman employed on such vessel (other than the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the medical officer, if any, at such port) to leave the vessel at any port in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury incurred while in the service of the vessel, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment by the medical examiners, to obtain clothing or effects left on board the vessel, or to be treated in a hospital, but shall be detained on board or at such immigration station as the Attorney General may designate, and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166).

Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to obtain or deport alien tradesmen by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship such alien may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to his payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General, but such alien shall not be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall remain subject to the penalty provided in section 36 of this Act.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or distress, or for the purpose of taking on board some or all of the crew or passengers of such vessel, or for the purpose of transferring in transit without visa to another vessel, only such persons as shall have been duly certified by the Public Health Service, or by a medical officer of the United States Army, the United States Navy, or the United States Air Force, to be clear of any quarantinable disease or physical or mental defect or disease which may endanger the welfare of the United States, and such persons shall be detained on board or at quarantine until certified by the Public Health Service, or by such medical officers to be clear of such disease or defect, unless they shall have been previously certified by the Public Health Service, or by such medical officers as having been detained for the full period required by this section. Such persons shall be subject to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for their detention, hospital treatment, and medical examination. Any person who knowingly or willfully brings into the United States any such person not duly certified, or who knowingly or willfully fails to detain on board or at quarantine any such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The action so mitigated, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(d) Every alien seaman who lands temporarily in the United States from a vessel or aircraft arriving from foreign territory contiguous to the United States, or adjacent islands, shall be considered to have been inspected and admitted into the United States, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this section and section 23 relating to alien seamen who land temporarily in the United States.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such alien shall not be granted a landing except temporarily by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and then only in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed by the Attorney General.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE
(Rev. 8-1-56)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

Information furnished by the Department has been found to be very helpful in the administration of the navigation laws. It is hoped that masters will continue to furnish such information to the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C., or to the local inspectors of the Steamboat-Inspection Service.

(Form 1—1070) Every master is required by law to report immediately to the local inspectors any accident to his vessel, or any casualty to life or property occurring on board, or in connection with the navigation of his vessel, whether the vessel is under way or not. Such reports must be made in writing, and must be sworn to before a notary public or other officer authorized to administer oaths. Masters are cautioned that "every master" is required by law to report

SEC. 26. That upon arrival of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, purser or person in charge of the port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, purser or person in charge of the vessel in which such person arrives to report the name and nationality of each and every alien on board, whether such alien be destined to the United States or not, as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; the foregoing provisions shall be applicable to the masters of vessels arriving in ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory. Every alien who shall come into the United States from any country contiguous to the United States shall be subject to the same inspection by the immigration officers at the ports of entry as aliens arriving in the United States from any other country: Provided, That the Attorney General may, by regulation, provide for the inspection of aliens arriving in the United States at stations located within the United States adjacent to ports of entry, and shall provide for the forwarding of such aliens to the immigration officers at such ports of entry for inspection. The Attorney General is authorized to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the forwarding and inspection of aliens destined to ports within the United States contiguous to the country to which such transportation lines operate. Every alien arriving at a port of entry of the United States who may not be admissible or who may not be entitled to enter the United States under the provisions of this Act or any other law or treaty now or hereafter in force, or who may be certified in pursuance of the provisions of section 24 of this Act to be a member of the class of aliens who cannot be admitted to the United States in pursuance of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, shall be detained at the port of arrival pending a determination as to the right of such alien to land, and no such alien shall be allowed to land in the United States except upon writ of habeas corpus issued by a court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings initiated within five days after the completion of the examination of such alien by the immigration officers at such port of entry, or after the decision of the Secretary of Labor if such decision be appealed, unless the court before which habeas corpus proceedings are pending shall fix a longer time for good cause shown. Pending the final determination of the right of such alien to land, every such alien shall be subject to such restrictive conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, but such alien shall be entitled to the writ of habeas corpus. Any alien who shall come in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and deported as provided in section 19 of this Act: Provided, That any alien who was admitted to the United States as a bona fide visitor, student, or temporary worker and who has remained longer than the period for which he was admitted or any extension thereof authorized by the Attorney General, or who has failed to maintain the status in which he was admitted, or to comply with the conditions of any such status, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, but shall not be required to be detained pending the determination of the question of his deportation unless in the opinion of the Attorney General his release would be prejudicial to the public interest or unless he is unable to furnish such security as may be required to assure his subsequent departure from the United States when required to do so. (43 Stat. 162–163, 66 Stat. 182–183; 8 U. S. C. 136 (a), (c).)

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person, including any transportation company or the master, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel, to bring to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who does not appear to the immigration officers at the port of arrival to be in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or other document required by section 13 of this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, or who is an anarchist, or who is coming for any immoral purpose, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other travel document, or such document as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State under the provisions of section 6 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or who is not admissible under the quota specified in section 11 (e) of this Act, or who is ineligible for citizenship and not exempted from the application of the provisions of section 13 (c) of this Act relating to the immigration of persons of races ineligible for citizenship, or who is not admissible under any of the provisions of this Act, or who has come from any foreign territory contiguous to the United States unless in possession of a permit from the Secretary of Labor, or who has been brought in violation of subsection (d) hereof. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this subsection shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both, for each alien with respect to whom any violation occurs.

(b) Any person who shall bring to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who does not appear to the immigration officers at the port of arrival to be in possession of the documents required by subsection (a) of this section, or who shall refuse to return, when required so to do, any alien brought to the United States who is subject to deportation under any of the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, for each alien with respect to whom any violation occurs.

(c) Any master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport such alien on board the vessel in which he arrived to the port from which he last departed, or on board any other vessel or vessels sailing within a period of two years after the arrival of such alien at a port of the United States, to any country willing to receive him, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so brought, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have granted a waiver of deportation pursuant to the provisions of section 19 (d) of this Act. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such amount as he deems appropriate. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question involving the liability of any master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser to the payment of any penalty or portion thereof imposed by this section, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or such portion thereof, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof to the satisfaction of the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such amount as he deems appropriate. This section as amended shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that a new temporary or such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a citizen of the United States who brought such alien to the United States that such alien is unable to obtain employment in the country to which he belongs or elsewhere, and that he has not been granted clearance papers by the master of such vessel or has not been paid by the master the cost of his return passage to the port from which he was brought to the United States, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to the port at which he was engaged, whichever he may elect, or the equivalent of the cost of such passage to any such port, by the owner of such vessel or by the person in charge thereof.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that adequate provision has been made for the return of any alien seaman who has been brought to the United States on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States, and who is unable to obtain employment in the country to which he belongs or elsewhere, and who has been granted clearance papers by the master of such vessel or has been paid by the master the cost of his return passage to the port from which he was brought to the United States, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to the port at which he was engaged, whichever he may elect, or the equivalent of the cost of such passage to any such port, by the owner of such vessel or by the person in charge thereof, and has been deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, the master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of such deportation, and the Attorney General may, in his discretion, withhold clearance for such vessel or any other vessel or vessels owned by the owner of such vessel until such cost has been paid to the United States. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel in violation of this section shall be taken into custody upon the arrival of such vessel at any port of the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of the immigration laws. Any master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing an alien seaman to the United States who is required by this section to be deported shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained awaiting deportation and his deportation to the port of embarkation, and the cost of his maintenance and deportation from any subsequent port to which he may be taken to the port of embarkation, and the vessel on board which he arrived in the United States shall be liable to the United States for the cost of such maintenance and deportation, and clearance may be withheld from such vessel until such cost has been paid to the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 161.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or the person in charge of the port of arrival (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), shall cause such seaman to depart on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board any other vessel sailing within a period of two years after the arrival of such alien from the United States, to the country to which he belongs or elsewhere, or to such other country as may be willing to receive him, unless the Attorney General shall otherwise direct. Such seaman shall be placed on board such vessel by the master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which he arrived, or by the person in charge of the port, as the case may be, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which he arrived, or by the person in charge of the port, as the case may be. Such seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of the immigration laws. Any master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of any vessel, or person in charge of any port, who fails to deport any alien seaman as required by this section, or who fails to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained awaiting deportation and his deportation, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs; upon such refusal as the Attorney General in his discretion may direct, such penalty may be remitted or refunded in whole or in part. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such amount as he deems appropriate. This section as amended shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that a new temporary or such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a citizen of the United States who brought such alien to the United States that such alien is unable to obtain employment in the country to which he belongs or elsewhere, and that he has not been paid by the master the cost of his return passage to the port from which he was brought to the United States, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to the port at which he was engaged, whichever he may elect, or the equivalent of the cost of such passage to any such port, by the owner of such vessel or by the person in charge thereof, and has been deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, the master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of such deportation, and the Attorney General may, in his discretion, withhold clearance for such vessel or any other vessel or vessels owned by the owner of such vessel until such cost has been paid to the United States. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily while the vessel is in port, or for hospital treatment, or because of such temporary illness as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contract who fails to deliver on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board such vessel for departure if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of the service.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165, as amd. 48 Stat. 674; 8 U. S. C. 163 (a), 163 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure medical treatment, or hospitalization as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to land in the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall give immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival like notice of intention to land such alien seaman as required in the case of alien passengers, and such alien seaman shall be inspected by a medical officer, and certificates issued and filed in the case of such alien seamen in the same manner as in the case of alien passengers; and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States if suffering from any disease, mental or physical, which would be grounds for exclusion under this Act, unless such seaman is specifically certified by the medical officer of the port as not likely to become a public charge, or unless in the case of a seaman certified by the medical officer of the port as likely to become a public charge the consular officer of the country to which such seaman belongs shall have given a bond in such sum, not exceeding $500, and with such sureties as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned that such seaman will depart from the United States within such time as may be fixed by the Attorney General, and for the payment of such hospital, medical, and burial expenses as may be incurred or paid on account of such seaman by the United States Government or by any State, municipality, or public relief organization within two years after landing, as may be required by the Attorney General. Such bond shall be in lieu of any bond theretofore required from such seaman or from the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be void and of no effect upon the departure of such seaman within the period specified. Upon the failure of the master or owner of any vessel to deliver any such seaman for medical inspection, or upon the failure of any such seaman to depart from the United States upon the termination of his shore leave, or upon the failure of the master or owner of any vessel to detain on board or to deliver for removal any such seaman who has been certified by the medical officer of the port as likely to become a public charge, or who has been refused a landing by the immigration officer in charge at the port, such master or owner shall pay to the collector of customs for the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in the case of a vessel for which a sufficient bond has been given to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(a) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port or place, and every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States from any port or place in violation of the provisions of this section, as amended, shall be subject to all penalties which may be imposed upon any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of the bond given by him, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman was prevented from departing from the United States on such vessel by illness or injury necessitating his hospital treatment in the United States, or by reason of his being detained as a witness in connection with the prosecution of any person or persons charged with the commission in the United States of any crime, or by reason of his being detained for the purpose of prosecution for any crime of which he may be accused in the United States, or that he was specially ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for the purpose of settling his accounts or collecting his wages, or that he has been granted permission by the Secretary of Labor to depart from the United States at a later time within the period of the bond. SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees: Navy clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the limit of employment of aliens in any capacity on board such vessel has been established by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and the number of aliens employed in excess of such limit has been reported to the district director in charge of the port of departure. Clearance shall not be granted by the Collector of Customs to any vessel which has on board aliens employed in excess of the limit established by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, unless the Secretary of the Navy certifies that the vessel is necessary for the national defense and that the number of aliens employed in excess of the limit established by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization is necessary to the operation of the vessel. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe, for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel listed for immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival at the time of such vessel's departure, or who fails to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer so to do, or who fails to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to the medical examination), shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond fully sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 5, 1924.

(b) Every such alien seaman shall not be permitted to land from any vessel at any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island from the United States unless such vessel shall have been granted clearance by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure or such alien seaman has been specifically authorized by the Attorney General to land.

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such vessel, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, HARRY M HAGERMAN, MASTER, of the AMERICAN OIL SCREW INDIAN, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Sworn to before me this 15 day of APRIL, 19 52

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall not be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) seamen shall not be required to board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew, if any, who have ceased to belong to the vessel, shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of departure.

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members and the names and positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, and upon which vessel they were respectively shipped to embark, the immigration officer shall be provided with the original lists, or such copies thereof as may be certified by the master of the vessel to be true copies, and shall thereupon cause a careful examination to be made of the said alien members, and if any such alien member is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to exclude him from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, or if it appears that any such alien member belongs to any of the classes excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, such facts shall be noted upon the lists opposite the name of such alien member, and the said lists shall be delivered to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel, who shall cause such alien member to be detained on board the vessel at the port of arrival pending the final action of the immigration officials, the decision of the board of special inquiry, and the payment of the head tax, if required by law, unless security be given to the satisfaction of the immigration officials that such alien will not become a public charge, and that he will be properly cared for and will not abscond. Any such alien member who shall be ordered to be deported shall be detained on board or at such port of arrival pending the performance of such order of deportation, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall enter into a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300 for each alien member, as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration, conditioned upon the return of such alien member to the country from which he came, or upon the payment of the cost of his deportation, should he be ordered deported from the United States within five years from the date of his entry into the United States, or upon the production within such period of such alien member to the proper immigration officials of a certificate from the country to which he is ordered deported, showing that he has been received therein by the proper officials thereof, which certificate shall be forwarded by mail to the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival from which such alien member was deported. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board his vessel or to deliver to the proper immigration officials any alien member sought to be detained by such officials, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, list, detain, or deport any such alien member in conformity with the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 874, 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the coastwise trade of the United States, including a vessel engaged in the fisheries, or transferred while in the United States from one vessel to another, or employed on board any vessel leaving the United States for any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Republic of Panama, or the Canal Zone any alien who is found by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to exclude such alien from the United States, or who is found by the immigration officer to be a member of a class excluded from admission into the United States, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified that such alien has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival to be free from such disease or mental or physical defect or disability, or has been granted a special permit for his detention or treatment ashore by the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, or has been otherwise lawfully landed or removed from such vessel. Such detention on board shall be at the expense of the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel, and shall be in addition to any other penalty prescribed by law. The cost of the maintenance of any such alien while detained in a hospital, and of his burial in case of death, shall be recoverable from the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. (b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect in any proceeding for the collection of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act. (c) If the Attorney General finds that a deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States will cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be granted a conditional landing for such period of time as may be necessary to effect his departure for foreign territory, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, without the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act. (39 Stat. 164–165, 38 Stat. 816; 8 U. S. C. 137 (a), 137 (c).)

(Rev. 2-15-23)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or person in charge of the port or place it arrives first coming into the harbor of such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the said vessel, and where and whence they were respectively bound as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, master, consignee, or person in charge of the port or place it arrives first coming as above to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from such vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and any owner, agent, master, or consignee of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $300 for each such offense; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the infliction of such penalty, or while the master refuses to answer any question touching the matters aforesaid, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each master in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal as to any Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which may hereafter accrue under section 2 of June 2, 1924.

(d) Proof shall be filed as soon as such bond has been duly executed and delivered, and prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien from the United States (a) to the immigration officer at the port of arrival first coming to the knowledge of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel in the United States that such alien has been found therein, or (b) to the Attorney General, shall be the production of a certificate of the commissioner of immigration of the port of arrival that such alien has not been delivered to him within such time, or (c) to the Attorney General that such alien has been delivered to him within such time but has been refused admission to the United States by an immigration officer, or has been allowed to depart therefrom, or has been taken into custody by the authorities of any State or municipality for any cause whatsoever, or has escaped from such custody without the consent of the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien named on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien, or that the transportation offered by the immediate contract of the vessel is unreasonable, or that for any other reason it is impracticable or contrary to the public interest to require deportation on such vessel, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the bond or penalty unless the Attorney General shall so direct. (43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each master in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal as to any Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which may hereafter accrue under section 2 of June 2, 1924.

(d) Proof shall be filed as soon as such bond has been duly executed and delivered, and prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien from the United States (a) to the immigration officer at the port of arrival first coming to the knowledge of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel in the United States that such alien has been found therein, or (b) to the Attorney General, shall be the production of a certificate of the commissioner of immigration of the port of arrival that such alien has not been delivered to him within such time, or (c) to the Attorney General that such alien has been delivered to him within such time but has been refused admission to the United States by an immigration officer, or has been allowed to depart therefrom, or has been taken into custody by the authorities of any State or municipality for any cause whatsoever, or has escaped from such custody without the consent of the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien named on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien, or that the transportation offered by the immediate contract of the vessel is unreasonable, or that for any other reason it is impracticable or contrary to the public interest to require deportation on such vessel, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the bond or penalty unless the Attorney General shall so direct. (43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, ANDREA HANSEN, of the SUSU ANDINE MMI T-YA 101, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in and sent ashore from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1915, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 15 and 55, Act of May 28, 1951, which appear below.

Andrea Hansen
Master, [illegible]

Sworn to before me this 15 day of May, 1951

L. R. McMahon
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "witness" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of native American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

Type or print all the information requested. U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1951 O—[illegible]

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry of the vessel a list containing the names of all aliens who are members of the crew, and specifying the capacity in which they are employed, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien who is to be employed on such vessel, and the port at which each such alien intends to land, and the date of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, and such other information relative to the crew as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and the truth of the matters therein contained shall be sworn to before the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel or his duly authorized clerk or agent, and the master shall indorse upon the list a certificate of the oath administered. When an alien seaman, employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States, is discharged from such vessel, the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, or his duly authorized clerk or agent, shall, before such alien seaman leaves the vessel, deliver to the immigrant inspector at such port a list containing the name of such alien seaman, the date of his arrival in the United States, the vessel on which he arrived, and the date, port, vessel, and nationality of the vessel in which he will depart from the United States, and shall indorse upon the certificate of the oath administered to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel the name of such alien seaman so discharged. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of his departure from the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to indorse the certificate of the oath administered to him, or who shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel other than the alien seaman so discharged, or who shall fail to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien seaman, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate in the case of each alien seaman so discharged, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien seaman concerning whom correct list was not delivered, or for whom a sum equal to the amount actually expended for the hospital treatment of such alien seaman, or for whom a bond has been given, as provided in section 35 of this Act, and for each alien seaman concerning whom correct information was not furnished, a sum not exceeding $50, to be determined by the Secretary of Labor, and in the event such sum is not paid on demand, the same may be recovered in a civil suit by the United States. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. Clearance shall not be granted by the collector of customs to any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry the list required by this section, and has indorsed upon the certificate of the oath administered to him the statement that such list has been delivered as required by this section, and has otherwise complied with the requirements of this section relative to the list of alien seamen. Clearance may be granted to such vessel within the period specified in 48 Stat. 1181–1182, 8 U. S. C. 1161 (a), 1161 (c).

(43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 1166.)

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be responsible for the collection of all head taxes required by this Act to be paid on account of any alien passenger on board such vessel, and the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry may withhold clearance for such vessel until the head taxes required by this Act to be paid on account of such alien passengers have been paid, or may require a bond satisfactory to him for the payment thereof within two years from the date of entry of such alien passenger. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to pay such head taxes within two years from the date of entry of such alien passenger shall be liable to the United States for double the amount of such head taxes required by this Act to be paid on account of such alien passenger, and no vessel shall have clearance granted it while any such head taxes are unpaid on account of any alien passenger, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such head taxes upon the deposit of a bond or undertaking approved by the Attorney General in an amount sufficient to cover such tax, or to the extent of the value of the property of such alien passenger subject to such head taxes if the same be sold for an amount sufficient to pay such taxes. Any such bond or undertaking may be sued in the name of the United States for the recovery of such head taxes. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. Clearance shall not be granted by the collector of customs to any vessel for which a manifest is required by section 4 of this Act until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry the list required by section 12 of this Act, and has indorsed upon the certificate of the oath administered to him the statement that such list has been delivered as required by section 12 of this Act (8 Stat. 398; 8 U.
